

Privacy Policy

Starkey & Runkle, LLC (the "Firm") is committed to protecting the personal information collected through starkeylawfirm.com (the "Web Site"). By using this Web Site, you consent to the terms of this Privacy Policy.

Information Collected. You may generally visit this Web Site without providing any personal information. The Firm may track general information regarding your use of the Web Site. This information may then be aggregated with other information to track overall user traffic patterns on the Web Site. Such information does not identify you personally and may include, without limitation, the daily number of visitors to the Web Site and the daily requests for certain pages on the Web Site. The information may be used to customize this Web Site to better meet the users' needs.

Cookies. A cookie is an element of data that is sent by a web site to be stored in your web browser so that the web site can recognize you the next time you visit the web site. The Firm reserves the right to use cookie technology on this Web Site in order to assist them in customizing and personalizing your visit to this Web Site. By using cookies, the Firm will be able to identify your habits and be more responsive to your needs while on this Web Site. You may set your web browser to notify you when you receive a cookie, which will allow you to accept or reject the cookie. If you decide not to accept a cookie, you will limit the ability to personalize your visit to this Web Site.

How Information Is Used. The Firm does not sell, rent or barter any personal information collected through its Web Site with any third parties. Any personal information collected by the Firm will be used solely for internal purposes. Any non-personal information will be treated as non-confidential and may be used by the Firm to improve its services to its clients, create a better Web Site or market its legal services.

Site Security. The Firm maintains physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to guard your personal information collected by this Web Site. However, the Firm and its agents do not ensure or warrant the security or accuracy of any information stored by this Web Site. You acknowledge that such information is not totally secure and agree to hold the Firm and its agents harmless for any failure to maintain the security of such information.

Children's Privacy. This Web Site is not directed toward and does not intend to collect any personally identifiable information from children under the age of 13. This Web Site prohibits the submission of any personally identifiable information from children under the age of 13.

Links. This Privacy Policy applies only to this Web Site. For your convenience, this Web Site may contain links to other web sites not owned, controlled or maintained by the Firm.

Opt-Out. If you do not wish to receive any notices or other information from the Firm, you may request to be taken off the Firm's mailing list by contacting the Firm at info@starkeylawfirm.com.

Modifications and Revisions. The Firm may, in its sole discretion, modify or revise this Privacy Policy at any time. Any changes or revisions to this Privacy Policy will be posted on the Web Site.

Contact Us. If you have any questions or comments regarding this Privacy Policy, you may contact the Firm by mail at 638 W. Maple Street, Hartsville, Ohio 44632, by phone at (330) 494-9077 or electronic mail at info@starkeylawfirm.com.

